CORRESPONDENCE.

We print the following especially for our subscribers, expressed by our correspondents:

THE RAINFALL.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "DAILY PRESS."—Dear Sir,—The question of rainfall is one often discussed after one or two violent downpours or after days of drought. That it is measured in inches is well known, but the daily papers give figures daily. According to the figures given in the "Chronicle and Directory," the annual average for 10 years is 52.52 inches, or taken by months is as follows:

Month	Inches
January	1.47
February	1.61
March	8.83
April	9.55
May	9.82
June	12.67
July	16.41
August	16.83
September	12.23
October	5.50
November	1.44
December	4.49

And it would be interesting and even useful, if you could compliment publish a table giving the monthly rainfall for 10 years.

The 10 years' average taken to 31st August is 60.04 inches, and my impression is that the rainfall from 1st January to 31st August 1894, is somewhat in excess.—Yours faithfully,

Mr. Von Hasselbeck has left this date, destination not known.

THE MURDER OF THE REV. JAMES WYLIE.

The New York Correspondent of the "Daily Press" writes under date of the 2nd August as follows:

I very last returned from the funeral of the Rev. James Wylie, whose remains arrived from Liuyang this morning, the successor of the Rev. Geo. Douglass. He was interred on 1st and Tuesday by the natives in a simple but deeply mournful ceremony at the foot of the hill where his house stood. The soldiers who are Marquis in charge of an officer named Xi attacked the church on the afternoon of the 10th instant, they then armed with the pieces of broken furniture of which he attempted to break them off. They suggested to Mr. Wylie to leave, the British, but he refused, and was killed by the rifle of one of the other foreigners. The hospital patients, terribly frightened, ran out of the hospital and to the next compound where Mr. and Mrs. Douglass live. Mr. Douglass, who happens to be the son in height, went to the gate, opened it, and called out to the soldiers to stop. But before reaching the gate, the soldiers caught sight of him and shot him with the broken furniture and pieces of furniture, other pieces flying about him. He fell dead on the ground.

On the 10th the atmosphere was so thick that he never succeeded in getting a shot off. It was the 11th, and after a few more shots were exchanged, he ran out of the compound, the Americans, who had been shot, fled to the next compound where Mr. and Mrs. Douglass live. Mr. Douglass, who happens to be the son in height, went to the gate, opened it, and called out to the soldiers to stop. But before reaching the gate, the soldiers caught sight of him and shot him with the broken furniture and pieces of furniture, other pieces flying about him. He fell dead on the ground.

The plan is for the Government, namely Great Britain, Germany, Italy and the United States to seize and occupy by their naval forces the harbour of Amoy, Canton, Foochow, Chinkiang, Fuchow, Shanghai, Hankow, and Tientsin. The British Ambassador and Secretary Grosvenor, representing their respective Governments, an earnest attempt has been made to bring in, at Washington, the French Ambassador, into the negotiations. The Chinese Government, from their instructions, have issued a circular to all their diplomatic corps, that the Chinese ports are only temporarily closed to the arrangement, and that they decline to participate until they know exactly what the terms and conditions will be.

It is now generally agreed that the Chinese Government will be compelled to yield to the demands of the foreign powers, and that the Chinese ports will be open to the world again. The Chinese Government, however, has issued a circular to all their diplomatic corps, that the Chinese ports are only temporarily closed to the arrangement, and that they decline to participate until they know exactly what the terms and conditions will be.

It is now an open secret that the opening of hostilities found the Peking squadron, as it was found and unprepared, as was conceivable to be. Even their magazines were depleted, in consequence of the extensive firing practice during the financial insurrection. During the last month, however, there have been made more shipshape and every day makes the fleet more efficient.

The coal question has, of course, come to the front as a paramount factor in this matter, but as one would have anticipated, the Chinese Admiral had easily overruled its supreme importance.

At Weihai-wei and Port Arthur there were less than 3,000 tons of coal, say ten days' supply—and that of a decidedly inferior quality. There are no coals here now, but even yet the quality of the coal supplied is at once scandal and a danger, the explanation being, "We have no coal."

What will the British authorities do? What will the Mission do? One feels sure the Mission does not want blood for blood, but the demands of guilty parties sufficient to prevent a peaceful settlement, and also protection of the innocent, during these days of uncertainty, will not demand, and will refuse if offered, blood money. But they will be quite justified in accepting from the Government a stipend based on a school or hospital, and so, what more appropriate name could be found than the Wylie Memorial School or Hospital?

THE AMERICAN MAIL.

The O. & O. steamer "Guelph" with the American mail of the 7th inst., arrived Saturday. The following telegram are from our San Francisco correspondent:

THE AMERICAN MAIL.

LONDON, 20th July.

Professor Paris, the well-known Egyptologist, has brought to London some remarkable results of excavations at the site of Koptos.

During the present year he has secured materials which are the most important ever obtained.

He has also obtained a number of documents of interest not only to archaeologists but also to amateur students.

A ancient Koptos formed the Nile terminus of the older trading route of this world, the route passing through the valley of Nubia, to the shores of the Red Sea.

Traditional authorities say that the Koptos affair is still in progress, but that the English and American courts will decide what is and what is not contraband of war, regardless of the well-established rights of neutral peoples.

THE "KOWSHING" AFFAIR.

NEW YORK, 6th August.

The Tribune's London cable special says:

President Seward has written to the Admirals of the American fleet, authorizing them to proceed against Kowshing.

He contends that when the Kowshing affair was at its height, the Chinese were at war with each other.

It is true, he says, "that the knowledge is constantly increased by the English and American courts that was not only begun by a hostile act on the part of one nation, but also by a formal declaration of war by another."

He did not know previously, learned the fact from the Japanese submarine who heard her, that was exiled.

The flying of the British flag, whether a rescue or otherwise, is wholly immaterial.

It was virtually impossible for the Japanese to prevent the rescue of the crew, as the British prize money awarded the Japanese, hence the Japanese could not interfere with his right to use any amount of force to compel the Kowshing to obey orders.

The Kowshing was clearly part of a hostile expedition which the Japanese were entitled to prevent, from reaching its goal.

The rescued officers having been duly released of neutral rights, cultural. No apology is due.

He believes that this will be the first and only international law from a purely legal standpoint.

NO. 2 AMERICAN VESSELS TO BE SENT TO CHINA AND JAPANESE WARDS.

WASHINGTON, 6th August.

The United States naval and Chinese and Japanese waters is to be greatly increased.

It may be a mere coincidence that Mr. O'Connor and Count Cesar went to China together. The Admirals of their respective countries were expected two and, of course, people once jumped to obvious conclusions. They are, however, somewhat less obvious when we see that the families of these Ministers also happen to be in China.

Mr. O'Connor had a prolonged interview with Mr. O'Connor on Saturday.

The Diplomatic and Consular authorities are discreetly silent, but it is quite clear that they are all contemplating the possibilities as well as the probabilities of the situation. The British, French, German, Russian and American Ministers have urgently apprised the governors at Tientsin, a very wise precaution, and one calculated to obviate the best manner the danger they face. By the end of this week the Bund will be graced with the "Lion, Wolf, Lion, and Sheep," whose united crews will make an aggregate of 350 men. I used hardly add that the contingencies feared are social and anti-dynastic movements should China meet with any serious check. In the presence of such a blow, the world dare by held to attack China. Gentlemen generally count found numbers with strength, and their wives and hopes with facts.

Extensive roads in the Pei-ko valley have indefinitely enhanced the difficulty of approaching Tientsin. The river and the railway are at present the only means of access. By the way, the facilities offered by the latter to the movement of troops has profoundly impressed the Government, so much so that they are considering a wild scheme for making a light road at once to the Korean frontier. I call it wild, because the fearful summer rains over the province will make the task well nigh impossible.

The Chinese authorities have received telegrams that 20,000 Japanese had landed near the Changchow River, in lat. 33° 40' N., that is, between the main body of China and Peking.

The United States will be represented by

Admiral
